4 GOSPEL CAMPAIGNS IN 2 WEEKS

This October in Ethiopia, the heavens opened – spiritually and literally! Despite unexpected rainstorms (October is supposed to be the dry season in Ethiopia), every meeting took place as planned. The Gospel was preached, come rain or shine, bringing thousands to Jesus.

Evangelist Daniel Kolenda preached in all four cities, supported by CfaN Bootcamp graduates in each location. And the result was a heavenly outpouring of salvation, healing and deliverance in abundance!

City-wide Revival

In Hawassa, where Daniel preached the first two nights, the campaign started relatively small. But word quickly spread about the wonders God was doing. On the second night, the crowd had doubled. By the final meeting, over 120,000 people were gathered. That final night felt less like an ending and more like the beginning of city-wide revival. As Evangelist Gary Smith took the stage, even the streets were flooded with people. Cars could barely make their way down the road through the throngs of worshippers. During the invitation to receive Christ, hands rose like a field of wheat ready for harvest.

Betel, who struggled with asthma for 17 years, is now breathing freely for the first time.

A young boy who had been unable to smell for five years suddenly regained his sense of smell.

This man, injured in a motorbike accident, was healed of neck pain that had plagued him for 7 years.

Breakthrough!

For the first two nights in Dilla, Evangelist Randy Roberts faced the challenge of torrential rain that turned the campaign field into a muddy quagmire. Attendance was thin. But on Saturday, praying fervently, we saw a breakthrough! The clouds parted like a curtain over the town, and despite the mud, people came hungry and expectant. The crowd was ten times larger than the previous night, and the atmosphere was electric. Daniel preached the Gospel with all his heart and thousands made the decision to follow Christ.

Ephraem, who had suffered three years of pain and limited movement in his left arm, was healed. He dropped to the ground and did push-ups on stage, grinning the whole time.

CAMPAIGN 38

On the final night, the team arrived to find the field packed to capacity – even the stands and hills on the outskirts were full! Daniel shared,

“I had planned to preach, but when I saw this breakthrough crowd, I asked Evangelist Randy Roberts to deliver the message. Randy had been preaching the first two nights when only a few hundred people attended. He plowed through the difficult ground, and now, as we saw the harvest, I wanted him to taste the fruit of that labor.”

Delube, who had leg pain from a motorcycle accident four years ago, was also healed – squatting without pain.

Bereket, born deaf in her left ear, stood on stage in tears as she heard out of that ear for the first time.

On Saturday, as Evangelist Joe Turnbull prayed for the Holy Spirit to move, a young boy near the front, crying out to the Lord, suddenly collapsed. When he stood, the infected leg he had battled for two years was completely healed. Overwhelmed, he ran to the stage with his sister, both in awe of what the Lord had done.

Every knee bowed

The first night in Sodo, Evangelist Kolenda witnessed something he had never experienced before. As he preached, he spoke about the promise in Philippians 2:10 – that at the name of Jesus, every knee will bow and every tongue will confess that Jesus Christ is Lord. Then, something remarkable happened. Without any prompting from Daniel, the crowd began to kneel in the dirt, lifting their hands and spontaneously calling on the name of Jesus. He knelt with them, waiting for the moment to pass so he could continue, but they had no intention of stopping. Their cries to the Lord grew even more fervent, many of them weeping, pouring out their hearts in raw, genuine surrender. Finally, with all of them still on our knees before the King of Kings, Daniel led them in a prayer of salvation.

Evangelist Joe Turnbull preached on Saturday and Sunday.

A soldier named Ephrium had been shot in the foot and endured constant pain, especially in cold weather. But after prayer, the pain vanished. To the crowd's amazement, he sprinted across the stage, joyfully testing his restored foot.

HOSANNA

Standing Together

Daniel finished the week in Hosanna beneath a heavy, brooding sky. Cold, relentless rain soaked the earth, turning the field into thick, clinging mud. It seemed unlikely that anyone would come. But when the team arrived, the view was stunning. Thousands of colorful umbrellas crowded the entrance – and even more people held up chairs or blankets for cover. They were soaked to the bone, trembling, huddled together for warmth. But they stayed, waiting patiently for the service to start.

Sabiba, a mother from Hosanna, testified about her son Tesfahun, whose arm was severely injured in a motorcycle accident. For three years, he couldn't stretch it. When Evangelist David Rotärmel prayed for the sick, Jesus healed the boy, and he stretched his arm fully, pain-free.

The platform was empty. Musical instruments lay silent under tarps, and still, the people stood. Some must have wondered if the preacher would even show or if their effort had been in vain.

Daniel grabbed a raincoat and climbed onto the platform. Mic in hand, he looked over the drenched crowd and commended their faith. "Heaven sees you," he told them, "And more than just rain – showers of blessing – are coming." Then, in one motion, he ripped off the raincoat, tearing it in two and tossing it to the wind.

"If you will stand in the rain," he shouted, "I will stand with you!"

The crowd erupted, their cheer rolling like thunder over the field. In that moment, something shifted. An unspoken agreement settled over the field: rain or not, no one was leaving.

In Daniel's words:

"I dove straight into the Gospel message, trimming it on the fly to be mindful of the conditions. A few minutes in, I glanced back and caught sight of the entire CfaN team – many dressed in suits and tie – standing at the back of the stage, fully exposed to the cold rain, without a single umbrella. They could have waited under cover, but instead, they chose to stand in the downpour as a silent declaration of solidarity. That image struck me deeply. Despite the freezing rain, a warmth spread through my heart – we were all in this together."

In Hosanna, for some reason, testimonies had been slow throughout the week, but a breakthrough was near. As the Spirit moved, Daniel noticed an older woman in the crowd pressing her hands to her ears, praying earnestly. The Holy Spirit stirred him, and he pointed to her, commanding her ears to open in Jesus' name. Instantly, she began waving her arms – something miraculous was unfolding.

She pushed through the crowd toward the front. Taking her hand, Daniel led her onto the platform and asked what happened. This woman lived on the outskirts of Hosanna and had traveled into town just for the campaign. Deaf in both ears for seven years, she said the moment he pointed at her, her ears popped open – she could hear! She danced and jumped across the platform, overcome with unrestrained joy.

Then, like a dam breaking, miracles erupted across the field. People fell to the ground in worship as a holy awe swept over us, gripping every heart.

Thank you for standing together with us!
